

"Trend is Good," according to Governor

Governor Gary Herbert announced today that on Saturday, 5/16/2020 at 12:01am, most communities in Utah will move to the "yellow" or low risk category. The following will stay in the "orange" or moderate risk category:

Grand County, Summit County, Wasatch County, Salt Lake City, and West Valley City.

The decision to move into the "yellow" or stay in the "orange" phase is based on data from our communities, including the transmission rate, hospital capacity, tracing and testing, and exposure sources.
